4. Purpose of data processing

Personal data is processed to find out and know about the background of contracting partners and partners in cooperation for the purpose of risk assessment and observing international sanctions and export control regulation.

5. Legal basis of data processing

The processing of personal data is necessary for legal obligations as far as the obligation to comply with international sanctions and export control is based on Finnish or EU legislation, especially the following:

- Regulation (EU) 2021/821 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 May 2021 setting up a Union regime for the control of exports, brokering, technical assistance, transit and transfer of dual-use items, and complementing national legislation
- the EU's international sanctions in force
- the Act on the Fulfilment of Certain Obligations of Finland as a Member of the United Nations and of the European Union (659/1967).

Data processing may also be based on the data controller's legitimate interest when it is not based on the data controller's legal obligations. A legitimate interest refers here to the data controller's need to identify and manage risks related to its partnerships and ensure that also other statutes concerning export control and international sanctions are observed (e.g. export control enactments of the United States or international sanctions imposed by the United States).

7. Information systems employed

The data is stored in information systems on servers maintained by the Lappeenranta–Lahti University of Technology LUT. An online file storage and the Excel and Dynasty systems are used in the data processing.

In addition, a Webropol survey form is used in the data processing.

8. Data sources

The main data sources are the companies, organisations and data subjects themselves.

9. Use of cookies

Browser-based data filing systems employ cookies to process personal data. A cookie is a small text file that the browser saves on the user's device. Cookies are used to implement services, facilitate login, and enable the compilation of statistics on services. Users may prevent the use of cookies in their browser programmes, but this may prevent the system from operating correctly.

Cookies are used in data processing in browser-based systems

10. Data transfer and disclosure

Data is transferred within the organisation to save electronic documents containing personal data from an online file storage to a document management system and otherwise to the extent required for the purpose of the data processing. No personal data is transferred or disclosed to parties beyond the organisation.

An external processor (Webropol) is used to collect and process personal data.

11. Data transfer and disclosure beyond the EU or EEA

Data will not be transferred or disclosed beyond the EU or EEA.

12. Safeguards for data processing

The university's information security rules and guidelines apply to the management of information systems that process personal data. The information systems and their user interfaces are technically protected e.g. with a firewall, encryptions and data backups. The data may be accessed only by those with a username for the system. Usernames are personal, and user rights to information systems are limited through user group definitions: users may only access data that they need for their professional duties for the duration of their employment relationship. Printed documents are stored and safeguarded from external access.

13. Automated decision-making

No automated decision-making takes place in the processing of personal data.

14. Rights of the data subject

Data subjects have the right to withdraw their consent if the data processing is based on consent.

Data subjects have the right to lodge a complaint with the Data Protection Ombudsman if the subjects consider that the data processing regarding them is in breach of data processing legislation in force.

Data subjects have the following rights under the EU's General Data Protection Regulation:

- a) Right of access to data concerning the data subject (article 15)
- b) Right to rectification of data (article 16)
- c) Right to erasure of data (article 17). - d) Right to restriction of processing (article 18)
- e) Right to data portability to another data controller (article 20).

Data subject's rights under the EU's General Data Protection Regulation do not automatically apply to all data processing.
